Stop Breast Cancer! Personal Stories, Public Action

To support a pilot test of the Stop Breast Cancer! Personal Stories, Public Action Campaign. The goal of the campaign is to educate and mobilize the diverse constituency of the National Breast Cancer Coalition Fund around the need for policy makers to find viable solutions to problems that result in lack of access to health care. The campaign will advance this goal by providing platforms for the public to tell personal stories of barriers to health care through mediums such as house parties, the Internet and letter writing. The stories that are gathered will be presented to policy makers, urging them to make health care for all a top priority.
