The 1% Program: Strengthening NonProfits Through Design

Total Award: $100,000 over 12 Months

Organization: www.publicarchitecture.org

Board Level\Core

To support "The 1% Program: Strengthening Nonprofits Through Design" project, an initiative to strengthen communities through design and institutionalized pro-bono service in the architecture and design professions. Originally established as a challenge to design firms nationwide to pledge a minimum of 1% of their time to pro-bono service, Public Architecture expanded the program scope to catalogue nonprofit requests for design services and to connect firms willing to give of their time with nonprofit organizations in need of design. The program currently boasts more than 600 firms and 250 nonprofits across the country. The program has also disseminated examples of high quality pro-bono work that drives social change, and elevates green design that incorporates salvaged and recycled materials. The Public Design Studio will refine and revise its on-line system for matching firms with nonprofit clients.

Driving Green Innovation Policy through "Innovation Economics"

Total Award: $350,000 over 12 Months

Organization: www.innovationpolicy.org

Board Level\Core

To support the Driving Green Innovation through "Innovation Economics" initiative, a project of the Information Technology and Innovation Foundation. The project addresses the reality that innovation is the critical component of any real solution to global climate change. Making needed progress in driving green innovation to effectively address climate change will require U.S. policy makers to see innovation as the key; to do that requires that they embrace, or at least understand, the emerging "innovation economics" doctrine and its implications for crafting a green innovation policy. NCF support would enable ITIF to do independent research and analysis, publish reports, convene key groups of academics and social justice advocates, and assist innovation economists to create a more cohesive field of study and advocacy.

Organization: www.Community-Wealth.org
Board Level\Core

To support a book project by Gar Alperovitz, an initiative of The University of Maryland Foundation, Inc. The book will be designed to stimulate and provoke public debate and activist exploration of new strategic initiatives. It will describe the reasons why both traditional conservative and progressive strategies increasingly fail to deal with critical ecological, economic and other long term trends; (2) why the emerging era of political difficulty and economic decay defines a new and historically important context in which ongoing pain, anger and disillusionment may force a major debate on the nature, trajectory and overall direction of the political economic system; (3) describe the critical elements of a new, progressive and public serving system based both on quietly emerging local and national institutional developments and on new strategic approaches being explored by a wide range of writers; and (4) suggest how, over time—as in the pre-Populist era, pre-Progressive era, and other times of great pain and difficulty in American history--the paradox of ongoing systemic failure might open the way for specific new strategies to steadily build toward positive progressive change.

National Women's Law Center
(Washington, DC)
Women and Health Reform Project

Total Award: $275,000 over 12 Months

Organization: www.nwlc.org
Board Level\Core

To support the Women and Health Reform Project of the National Women's Law Center to strengthen the voice of women in national policy debates over ensuring access to high quality and affordable health care for all, and to work with allies to secure the most equitable and sustainable sources of financing necessary to accomplish that goal. In the coming year, the Center will identify, analyze, and monitor reforms to the current health care system as they unfold – including progressive ways to achieve savings and raise revenues to finance these changes – and address their implications for women's access to comprehensive, affordable health services. Central to its approach will be research, analysis, outreach and public education, coalition building, and technical assistance efforts.

*Massachusetts Health Care Reform
Implementation Project*

Total Award: $75,000 over 12 Months

Organization: www.gbio.org
Board Level\Core

To support the Greater Boston Interfaith Organization (GBIO) to ensure that implementation of health reform in Massachusetts serves the needs of low and moderate-income residents of the state. GBIO is a powerful member of the state-wide coalition that built the public support necessary to reform Massachusetts health care. In the coming year, GBIO will focus on securing the long-term financial stability of the health reform initiative by promoting a "shared responsibility" model and by forging agreements among employers, providers, policymakers and other stakeholders that will result in greater contributions from the private sector. GBIO and its allies also will continue to monitor implementation of the law's waiver and exemption provisions for those unable to afford insurance, will work on solutions for low-wage workers not currently eligible for coverage through the Connector, and will seek to identify coverage options for legal immigrants who have lost coverage under the plan.

Yeshiva University
(New York, NY)
Public Patent Foundation

Total Award: $200,000 over 12 Months

Organization: yu.edu

Project: www.pubpat.org

Board Level\Core

To support the Public Patent Foundation (PUBPAT), a project of the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law, to challenge patents that block equitable access to critical health care information and technologies. In the coming year, PUBPAT will pursue a lawsuit challenging certain patents on human genes that relate to breast and ovarian cancer. This case is part of a broader legal strategy challenging the practice of gene patenting in order to restore to the public domain a person's right to access information about her own genes, invigorate competition in the health care marketplace and encourage further research. PUBPAT also will develop challenges to other undeserved patents restricting access to health information or technologies.

(New York, NY)

General Support

Total Award: $100,000 over 12 Months

Organization: www.israelpolicyforum.org

Discretionary\Core (PAG)

For general support to the Israel Policy Forum (IPF) to provide reasonable, sustainable, and forward-thinking solutions to a two-state resolution of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict to policymakers and the American Jewish community. IPF aims to: advocate for active U.S. engagement to advance the process toward a two-state solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict; generate and mobilize the support of Jews and others for active U.S. diplomatic efforts towards a two-state solution; connect American Jewish leaders with policymakers for targeted advocacy initiatives; actively broaden the coalition of support for the two-state solution beyond the narrow confines of the American Jewish community; mobilize experts and former officials around specific and concrete policy recommendations; and employ communication and marketing tools to influence and engage policy makers, activists, and officials to move the peace process forward. IPF will pursue these objectives through policy development, communications and media, advocacy, programming, and leadership development.

Women and the Environment: Agents of Change in Israel

Total Award: $975,000 over 12 Months

Organization: www.nif.org
Board Level\Core

To support Women and the Environment: Agents of Change in Israel, an initiative to create a more vibrant, just, and peaceful Israel through supporting women as agents of change, developing an environmental movement, and seizing opportunity to create cross-sector social change. Women and the Environment includes four initiatives: 1) The NCF/NIF Women's Initiative seeks to harness the energies of women to create change by advancing the rights and status of disempowered populations to create a more just and vibrant society. The Initiative seeks to cultivate projects in the Orthodox Jewish and Arab-Israeli sectors that mobilize women through leadership development, advocacy, and cross-sector collaborations. 2) The Dafna Fund (DF) complements the work of the NCF/NIF Women's Initiative and develops feminist leadership by supporting new initiatives in academia, business, and public participation. These projects include serious inter-organizational partnerships between feminist and mainstream institutions, focusing on mentoring, networking, and diversity. 3) The Green Environment Fund (GEF) seeks to build a values-based environmental movement in Israel, foster a sustainable environment, and safeguard the public health of all Israeli citizens. GEF promotes environmental justice, with an emphasis on the health of vulnerable populations, safeguarding water and air quality, and effective partnerships especially between Jews and Arabs. 4) Finally, the NCF Opportunity Fund supports and builds capacity for cross-sector initiatives and coalitions that address broad issues in Israel in far-reaching and innovative ways, responsive to history.
