Diversity in Philanthropy Project

Total Award: $19,500 over term

Organization: www.nyrag.org

To support the first year of NYRAG's Diversity in Philanthropy project, a multi-year plan to increase diversity and inclusiveness in all aspects of the New York-area philanthropic sector. NYRAG is seeking to undertake research similar to that being done by the regional philanthropic membership organizations in California and Michigan. It is their hope that this early stage research will result in a mapping study that will establish accurate baselines for capturing present levels of diversity on foundation staffs, boards, and vendors in New York. By tracking the same type of research being done in California and Michigan, here in New York, they hope to create a base for a comparative national picture of diversity in our sector. This picture will allow them to chart subsequent steps for proceeding in the initiative, giving them the best ideas of what would be the smartest strategies going forward.
